

STATE FACTSHEET

Arizona

2017

Near an industrial site in Phoenix, residents were being affected by trichloroethylene (TCE) vapors entering their homes. ATSDR investigated the site and determined that residents in homes of Lindon Park, McDowell, Northside, and Southside might have been exposed to TCE at levels that could harm their health. At ATSDR's recommendation, vapor mitigation systems were installed which removed the hazard from the homes.